

PROJECT MANAGEMENT FOR AGRICULTURAL RD&E

BESPOKE TRAINING FOR RD&E TEAMS ACROSS AUSTRALIA

As RD&E professionals delivering projects for the agriculture, forestry, fishing and natural resource industries, it's not all about the fun stuff with landholders. We need to ensure we are meeting the needs of our funding bodies as well.

Workshops delivered by AgInnovate will give your team some simple project management tools, overlaid with extension design theory, to make the job of hitting those project targets easier.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT FOR RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT & EXTENSION PROFESSIONALS

Topics we include in our workshops or training days:

- The project lifecycle - planning, implementation, control and review.
- Definitions of project design and management.
- The foundations of good project design and management.
- Linking your project with broader regional, industry, government and/or community goals.
- Linking project design with extension design.
- The importance of stakeholder mapping.
- Risk assessments made easy.
- Key project tools for each stage of the project lifecycle, including GANTT charts, work breakdown structures, critical path method.
- Key project management tools plus other great practical tips and tricks.

Our approach:

- We use a facilitated training approach where participants are engaged in the training program from the start.
- Workshop participants are asked to bring along their own examples from a current project to use throughout the training. This ensures that the learning has already been implemented before participants go home at the end of the day.
- Coaching sessions are available post-workshop to further encourage workplace implementation.

Delivery methods and styles available

AgInnovate has delivered Project Management for RD&E providers across Australia through a range of formats. This includes:
